

APRIL 28 IRRIGATION UPDATE

Hole 18 is back in play and very much in its recovery era. You'll notice a few scars out there, think more "post-knee replacement comeback" than beauty contest. All scarred areas are ground under repair, so please take a free drop and carry on like the seasoned professional you are.

What's next:

Mainline installation is now advancing toward the 11th tee, with work kicking into high gear starting April 28.

What this means for play:

Hole #15 will be shortened during this phase

It may play as a par 3 or a short par 4, depending on daily progress (a little variety never hurt anyone)

Staying in the loop:

Routing and setup updates will be communicated:

- Daily on the website
- At check-in
- On the first tee
- And reinforced with on-course signage (yes, the signs are there for a reason)

Thanks again for your continued patience as we push this project forward. The course may look a little "mid-renovation chic" in spots, but the end result will be worth it.
